How to Set Team Targets

Your team likely has ambitious goals which might include growing your customer base, validating your technology, or landing venture capital investment. Part of reaching your goals is to set realistic incremental targets on the path to success - this is where Team Targets come in.

With guidance from your mentors, each participant team should submit 3-5 Team Targets by June 9, 2025. Submit your team targets by uploading this document to your CTO Dashboard.

These targets are important because they help determine how the Cleantech Open team and mentors can best support your team. Ultimately, we will return to your targets at the end of the program to gauge your relative success and our success in helping you achieve your goals.

Guidelines

Team Targets must:

- be expressed in a one sentence statement
- be realistically achievable within the short term (i.e. the next six months)
- be business-focused, not accelerator-focused (we don't want to know how you plan to win the a competition; we want to know how you plan to grow your business)
- contain a measurable component so that progress can be gauged
- contain a timeline or deadline

Examples

- Bad target = "Gain a better understanding of the market."
- Good target = "Gain intelligence to size each potential US market with the eventual goal of selecting an appropriate initial market launch site."
- Bad target = "Meet VC and angel investors."
- Good target = "Have three conversations of five minutes or longer with any investor to gauge reaction to the business concept and direction."

Example Company Team Targets:

1. Interview 25 potential customers by phone and 10 in person to collect data on value proposition (deadline: August 1st)
2. Complete 5 calls with solar manufacturers to explore possible manufacturing partnership (deadline: by August 15th)
3. Refine financial model to include realistic cost of distribution (marketing, promotion, sales/commissions) in order to better understand margin and ROI (deadline: September 1st)

4. Have 5 conversations of 10 minutes or more with potential investors to gauge investment interest in the product (deadline: September 15th)
5. Research and call 10 potential demonstration sites to gauge interest (deadline: by October 1st)
